Advanced SubStation Alpha (ASS) subtitles make it very easy to create subtitle tracks in your movie editor software. You can use the ASN/EASUB format or the new ASS2SRT format to store your subtitles. However, to use a subtitle source in an ASN/EASUB format you will first need to convert it to a format called SubRip (SRT) which can then be displayed in popular subtitle players like HandBrake. ASS2SRT makes this conversion simple as it allows you to batch convert all your ASS subtitles into SubRip format. Features: Batch convert all your ASS subtitles into SRT format Store SRT subtitles in the same folder as the converted ASS files Save to SRT in the same folder as the converted ASS files Batch convert all your ASS subtitles into SRT format To add a batch conversion option to the Batch Convert ASS2Srt application, you must 1) add a Batch Conversion option to the ASS2SRT Main menu 2) create a batch conversion action inside the main menu for the ASS2SRT application. After this is done, you will find your new batch conversion option listed in the Batch Convert Menu of ASS2SRT. Batch Convert ASS2Srt allows you to convert a set of ASS2Srt and ASS directories into SRT. It will convert all the files in a directory into SRT and create an SRT in the same directory. If you cannot find the directory of ASN or ASUB subtitle files, you may right click a file in the directory and select "Copy Filepath to Clipboard" and open the clipboard and past the file path into the text box before clicking "Open". The "Path" can be an absolute path, but a shortcut to a folder will work just fine. Examples: If you have ASN or ASUB subtitle files at: D:\ESPORTS\Personal\ASS_test\canyon.ass2srt It will then create a SRT in: D:\ESPORTS\Personal\ASS_test NOTE: ASS2Srt converts the entire file to SRT. It does not create a separate SRT for each subtitle line. It does not look inside the ASN file to find the subtitles and create
