Unheard is a stop motion short film created from live actors shot in Edinburgh, Scotland. The short was initially written for Edinburgh shorts festivals. The filmmakers came up with the idea of making a short with 100% live action, then animated. After a struggle to make it happen, it finally happened and was shown at Edinburgh Short film festivals. Unheard tells the story of 2 hard-working young guys who are on the verge of realising their dream. But they will have to overcome many obstacles and face their own demons before they succeed in their dreams. About The Developers: Charlie – Co-Director – Charlie has over 15 years experience in film, animation and writing Valerie – Co-Director – Valerie has a Masters degree in Graphic Design About The Theme: Unheard is inspired by the city of Edinburgh and the film industry. The weather is cold and windy but also sunny, and with all of that weather comes the creativity of the weather and the creativity of the people. Favourite Tracks: Those are the songs that make the whole film come to life for me; no matter how long it takes to make a short film, the end result is always worth it. *Eyes Red: 606 - Wake Up *Eyes Blue: 606 - The Shadows *Eyes Brown: 702 - In The Shadows *Eyes Green: 304 - Don't Call Me Dawn *Eyes Turquoise: 305 - We Are The Next *Eyes Purple: 633 - You Don't Love Me *Eyes Yellow: 623 - He Is Mine *Eyes Red: 626 - I Do Love You *Eyes Blue: 304 - Don't Call Me Dawn *Eyes Brown: 305 - We Are The Next *Eyes Green: 633 - You Don't Love Me *Eyes Turquoise: 623 - He Is Mine *Eyes Purple: 626 - I Do Love You *Eyes Yellow: 602 - I Have Lost My Good The production was music produced by me. The theme was written and composed by me. This is the soundtrack that I made. Some of the songs on this album are specially chosen for the people to see behind-the-scenes. I'll be sharing the edited behind-the-scenes footage with you guys as time goes by. Credits Sound design : Scott Nieuwlander Music : Scott Nieuwlander Mix &

Wallpaper Engine is a powerful tool to deliver and change your desktop wallpaper. It aims to provide the best experience without affecting performance or using up too much system resources. Not only can you use your live wallpapers on your desktop, you can also use them while you are away from your computer to "go with the wallpaper". Only a small part of your screen will be displayed as a live wallpaper, while the rest of the screen can be used for a fullscreen application or game. Wallpaper Engine will pause the wallpaper while using your screen for another application or game to not distract you. Wallpaper Engine has been designed to be as powerful as possible while using as little system resources as possible. You can choose to automatically pause or completely stop the wallpaper while using another application or playing fullscreen (including borderless windowed mode) to not distract or hinder you while playing a game or working. Wallpaper Engine supports multi monitor environments. This means that you can display wallpapers on multiple monitors, using different aspect ratios or with different resolutions. The app uses the latest WebGL 2 API, DirectX 9 and OpenGL 3.3 functionality and provides best performance on high end PCs. Advanced Customization: Wallpaper Engine offers advanced customization settings allowing you to tweak display quality and performance. Wallpaper Engine can use more than one CPU core to speed up calculations or you can use the dedicated GPU for even better performance. The Background Browser can handle 2,048×1,536 pixel and above sized screens. Or you can choose to not change the wallpaper during the workday and use Wallpaper Engine as a live wallpaper. Wednesday, 24 January 2015 Yet another failed attempt at a self-publishing month, blings. I have a few things to say about this month, but I don't want to go into detail as to be honest it's pretty much a topic bigger than just today's post. For the last week or so I've been searching for a theme for this month because it's Valentine's Day, and I really don't feel like writing a love story. If I wanted to write a love story I would write a romance novel, not a domestic story. My critique group has decided to move away from the "I could be your modern day Cinderella" theme as well, and we would more likely write about a face to face between two bitter enemies who are on the edge of a terrible war raging between themselves. So anyway, I ended up thinking that my theme this month is going to be about domestic violence, since that's not romance, and if my first thought is that I'm not suitable to write that kind of stuff then I've failed. So I'm trying again. This week has been good for me. I had a good look at several other writers whose blogs I follow, and thought I'd write up some of their posts as to what I thought of them. I'm particularly interested in seeing how other people manage to get good reviews on Amazon. I can't even get the one I wanted and from looking at it it's going to be a total shambles of a review and I don't know how to write a Kindle review so I'm just going to pass on the entire experience. All I can do is write about it here on blings. So I'll start with Carrie from How More Books. I like her blog, and always check in with her on a Monday morning. Usually there are links to her Monday posts and she gives a good rundown of what she has planned for her week, which is always great inspiration. I also really enjoyed her post about her venture into romance writing. She has an interesting topic blog and she's doing a lot of positive things for herself. So I think she does great for herself and also for the writing industry as a whole. First person to comment on her latest blog got 2 free books from me. How about that!
