Retool is a twin-stick turret shooter that looks and plays great! Its wicked retro feel adds a lot to the experience, and although it doesn't reinvent the wheel, it adds depth, variety, and a lot of fun. It's completely possible to play and enjoy this game without being familiar with the original game. Don't worry, you'll still find plenty of challenges and high quality production values. Single-player campaign mode: Retool features a small single-player campaign in a gun emporium, full of cleverly designed environments, and your mission is to eliminate all the bad guys. It's all about rushing to the next checkpoint and surviving long enough to accomplish the next checkpoint. It's challenging, exhilarating and fun. Original and entertaining gameplay: Retool's basic set-up is familiar. There are two playable characters and each has their own unique weapon. The first character shoots the slowest weapon, and the second character is the one with the fastest weapon, which makes for many interesting situations. Although the gameplay might not seem like anything new, it does well at offering an enjoyable experience that should appeal to a large range of players. Original, well-liked characters: Retool is built from the ground up with good old characters from the original game in mind. If you are familiar with the character mechanics and controls in the original game, you will be familiar with Retool, which is a great thing. Endless content, great unlockables and replay value: Retool has tons of content to keep you playing for a very long time. Retool features 3 difficulty settings and 6 different classes to unlock and mix up the gameplay, and like the original, players can unlock the character models from the original game. Share your awesome moments and unlock tons of other stuff: Retool is currently in Alpha, so it is a bit rough around the edges. If you play, let us know what you think on our subreddit, Twitter, and/or Facebook. As you get your weapons and character, be sure to use them for Bountys and unlockables. Some very cool things are unlocked along the way that reward you handsomely for the effort. Retool is a twin-stick turret shooter that looks and plays great! Its wicked retro feel adds a lot to the experience, and although it doesn't reinvent the wheel, it adds depth, variety, and a lot of 10 July 2020 Hello everyone, your friend behind the scenes including the key members of Taiwanese national sound team as well as producer Yung who works hand in hand with the team to bring you the most imaginative sound tracks of the year. Since 2020 is another year for me to work at this department, I had to move my office from my previous room and the original plan was to talk to Yung during my first week of this month and then have talked with the team together. So being very nervous and also not so patient I really want to leave my office and Go to the studio immediately I got the message to come to his room. I arrived and waited for a while. Suddenly Yung said that I'll go over to the studio, lucky for me he has an old sample manual that not only taught me how to make the sound track but also how to play instruments. I grab all the instrument I need and without hesitation I started playing them. The first song that hits my ears was a song of UCLIP, Yung said that by the way that song is a Vending Machine I believe so what other songs did he want me to play? The next one that was very good was John Cage ("Sonatina"). So I played "Jaihenai" the first recording tape I played was released a year ago by Yung. Then he played another one for me that I heard about Japanese people and then I played "There is no flower (To Overcome Adversity)" that closes our atmosphere; it's a song I liked very much when I saw it broadcast on the movie ParaNorman. With those two songs I finished the recording process for 1 hour. The recording process of the lyrics was so easy, I just never done it before. In advance of the recording I wrote most of the lyrics. The songs I composed together with Yung became a part of my mind! The hardest part was the background and because I still was an amateur when I'm talking about the background of the soundtrack we use the sound synthesizer very widely. It's the background giving so many possibilities and I mostly try to use background that connects this era with the future. The songs I made I mostly connect the easiest time of my life when I was young at the time and I hope that I could connect my past and present more easy with the songs. It was very difficult for me to make the similarity
