Recently I have heard several white people in my country say that they think that black people should be considered as a lower class than white people, and some people even say that black people are less human than white people. When I was young, this kind of words were uncommon, so I didn't pay attention to it. But now I am getting older, and hearing this kind of words from adults, I was shocked. How can there be such people? Am I right to be shocked? Is that really true? Or are these just some words of personal opinions of the people? A: It depends a little bit on which country you're in. It's true that there are some (black) people in America who prefer to see black people as subhuman, but there are also some (white) people in America who prefer to see white people as subhuman. But both kinds of people are quite rare. The vast majority of Americans have no problem with black people at all. At the same time, there are also a lot of people who 6d1f23a050
